

TREATMENT OF ADD/ADHD

Medication Management: In order for our healthcare providers to prescribe medications utilized in the treatment of ADD/ADHD, documentation confirming an appropriate diagnosis of ADD/ADHD is needed. This documentation must include prior comprehensive neuropsychological testing, with the following specified:

1. The name of the tester and specialty.
2. The test(s) used to make the diagnosis(es), with results clearly identified.
3. The final diagnosis(es).

Without this documentation, our healthcare providers will not provide a prescription for Adderall, Concerta, Daytrana, Ritalin, Vyvanse or other similar medications.

You must have a referral from a primary care doctor for ADD/ADHD testing. This referral can be obtained from your home doctor or from a provider at the Student Life Student Health Services (SLSHS). Any additional information or documentation regarding your current and/or past treatment of ADD/ADHD is also beneficial in assisting SLSHS providers in delivering the best possible care. Note: prescribing of medications is done at the discretion of the SLSHS provider.

No Testing or Documentation: If you have never had formal testing or are unable to provide documentation, it is strongly recommended that you begin arranging for the appropriate testing or retesting as soon as possible, as it can take up to three months to complete the testing process.

Neuropsychological Testing: If your family healthcare provider cannot recommend someone in your local community for neuropsychological testing, you can ask for a referral in the Columbus area. We most frequently refer our patients to the following:
